PARENT INVOLVEMENT

NOTE: Each school receiving funds under Title I, Part A of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) must develop a written school-parent compact jointly with parents for all children participating in Title I, Part A activities, services, and programs. That compact is part of the school's written parental involvement policy developed by the school and parents under section 1118(b) of the ESEA. The compact must outline how parents, the entire school staff, and students will share the responsibility for improved student academic achievement and the means by which the school and parents will build and develop a partnership to help children achieve the State's high standards.

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT INTRODUCTION & PURPOSE, ACCORDING TO THE NON-REGULATORY GUIDANCE OF THE USA DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION, DATED APRIL 23, 2004

The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB Act) reauthorized the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (ESEA), and is based on four principles that provide a framework through which families, educators, and communities can work together to improve teaching and learning. These principles are accountability for results, local control and flexibility, expanded parental choice, and effective and successful programs that reflect scientifically based research. The parental involvement provisions in Title I, Part A of the ESEA reflect these principles. Specifically, these provisions stress shared accountability between schools and parents for high student achievement, including expanded public school choice and supplemental educational services for eligible children in low-performing schools, local development of parental involvement plans with sufficient flexibility to address local needs, and building parents' capacity for using effective practices to improve their own children's academic achievement.

New reporting provisions added by the NCLB Act offer parent important insight into their children's education, the professional qualifications of their teachers, and the quality of the schools they attend. The new legislation ensures that parents have the information they need to make well-informed choices for their children, more effectively share responsibility with their children's schools, and help those schools develop effective and successful academic programs. Parents now will know their children's academic strengths and weaknesses and how well schools are performing, and they will have other options and resources for helping their children if their schools are identified in need of improvement.

The new Title I, Part A is designed not only to help close the achievement gap between disadvantaged and minority students and their peers, but also to change the culture of America's schools so that success is defined in terms of student achievement and schools invest in every child.<sup>1</sup> As indicated by the parental involvement provisions in Title I, Part A, the involvement of parents in their children's education and schools is critical to that process. Secretary Paige put it succinctly when he stated, "[s]chools can't improve without the help of parents."<sup>2</sup>

Three decades of research provide convincing evidence that parents are an important influence in helping their children achieve high academic standards. When schools collaborate with parents to help their children learn and when parents participate in school activities and decision-making about their children's education, children achieve at higher levels. In short, when parents are involved in education, children do better in school and schools improve.<sup>3</sup>

This guidance is divided into five major sections. The first deals with general issues related to parental involvement, the second addresses the parental involvement responsibilities of State educational agencies (SEAs), the third describes responsibilities of local educational agencies (LEAs), the fourth describes the responsibilities of schools, and the fifth describes the responsibilities of LEAs and schools to build parents' capacity for becoming involved in improving their child's academic achievement. Included in the appendices are relevant definitions (Appendix A), key Title I, Part A parental notice requirements (Appendix B), a list of research-based resources for improving teaching and learning (Appendix C), a sample template that might be used for the development of a district-wide parental involvement policy (Appendix D), and a sample template for a school-parent compact (Appendix E).

PURPOSE

The purpose of this guidance is to assist SEAs, LEAs, and schools in administering the parental involvement provisions of Title I, Part A of the ESEA. This guidance is not intended to be all-inclusive; rather, it answers questions about and clarifies aspects of the law that have been brought to the attention of the U.S. Department of Education (ED). This guidance may be supplemented in the future as other issues arise. The questions are primarily based on issues raised by State and local school officials and staff, education leaders, technical assistance providers, parents, parent advocacy organizations, parental involvement coordinators/school staff, and others who are actively engaged in working with parents to improve student achievement and learning.

SCHOOL'S PURPOSE

To partner with parents and increase their involvement and awareness of curriculum and activities offered at the high school.

DEFINITIONS

PARENT

The term “parent” includes a legal guardian or other person standing in loco parentis (such as a grandparent or stepparent with whom the child lives, or a person who is legally responsible for the child’s welfare). [Section 9101(31), ESEA.]

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT

The term “parental involvement” means the participation of parents in regular, two-way, meaningful communication involving student academic learning and other school activities, including ensuring –

- That parents play an integral role in assisting their child’s learning;
- That parents are encouraged to be actively involved in their child’s education at school;

SCHOOL-PARENT COMPACT

The Pleasantville High School, and the parents of the students participating in activities, services, and programs funded by Title I, Part A of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) (participating children), agree that this compact outlines how the parents, the entire school staff, and the students will share the responsibility for improved student academic achievement and the means by which the school and parents will build and develop a partnership that will help children achieve the State's high standards.

REQUIRED SCHOOL-PARENT COMPACT PROVISIONS

Title I, Part A provides for substantive parental involvement at every level of the program, such as in the development and implementation of the State and local plan, and in carrying out the LEA and school improvement provisions. Section 1118 contains the primary Title I, Part A requirements for SEAs, LEAs, and schools related to involving parents in their children's education. It is this section that identifies critical points in the process of improving teaching and learning where parents and the community can intervene and assist in school improvement. Although section 1118 is extensive in scope and has many requirements for LEAs and schools, the intent is not to be burdensome. These provisions reflect good practice in engaging families in helping to educate their children, because students do better when parents are actively involved in the education process, both at home and at school.

SCHOOL RESPONSIBILITIES

APPENDIX A: PARENT VISITATION POLICY

Parents may visit our classrooms. We do respect the right to ask them to make appointments so that there is the least amount of disruption to the instructional process. This appointment will insure that the class is in the classroom at the requested time and that both parties, teacher and parent, know the type of activity that is taking place in the classroom. Our goal is to accommodate parents within the following guidelines that help us run an orderly and secure school environment.

If the visitor is not a parent then parent permission must be secured in writing before visitation. This has been requested of grandparents who do not get to see their grandchildren due to separation or relocation to a different town or step-parents who are raising children that are not in their custody.

If one parent requests that another parent not see or pick up a child, they must put it in writing and give the office supporting documents such as a restraining order or court order. Staff cannot be put in the position to make decisions for or against feuding parents.

Parent visitation:

Try to solicit the reason for the visit from parent. Parents must not interrupt the classroom during their visits. Visitation should be for observation only. A follow-up conference can be scheduled with the classroom teacher for discussion of the visit.

Pleasantville High School

Parent Compact

*****

A name sticker pass will be given to any parent who has been approved to walk through the halls to a classroom.

If a parent does not pass from the office in their hand then the teacher, or any staff member, is to assume the parent did not stop at the office for clearance. The teacher will ask the parent to please check in at the office.

If it is an emergency and the parent is signing the student out of school then student will be called to the office and signed out. Parent is to wait in the office.

If reason is to drop something off, then the parent can leave the item(s) in the office and staff will make sure it is given to the student

If the parent insists on seeing the student to talk to them, then student is to be called down to the office to meet with parent in the office. Staff will check with classroom teacher first to see if the student is taking a test before having them sent to the office, except in an emergency. If the class is taking a test then the parent is to be informed and asked to wait until the test is over. If they cannot, then child will be sent down immediately.

Only in extremely rare cases should the parent be allowed to go to the classroom during instructional time or to the cafeteria. Only the Principal will make that decision to allow a parent to go to the classroom. The parent is to be escorted to the classroom by the security staff or Principal.

If the request comes during the reading time then parents will be asked to return or wait until the end of reading for the child to be called out of class.
